† MSCI Hedge Invest Index: MTD returns are based upon performance from the last Tuesday in previous month until the last Tuesday in reported month. YTD returns are from December 30, 2003 through July 27, 2004. Pro forma historical performance data for the period before July 15, 2003, relies on significant assumptions, and is provided for illustration purposes only. As with all historical performance data, it may not be used to predict future characteristics or performance of the index or relied on in making any investment decisions.

The MSCI Hedge Fund Composite IndexSM, an equal weighted index, was down by 0.78% for the month of July, outperformed the MSCI World Equity IndexSM by 2.49% and underperformed the MSCI World Sovereign Debt IndexSM, by 0.29%. The MSCI Hedge Fund Database has grown to over 1,800 hedge funds and more than 190 indices representing more than $240 billion in assets. Over 98% of the funds in the database reported performance as of July's index calculation.

The MSCI Specialist Credit IndexSM was the top performing process group for the month of July, returning 0.36%. Specialist Credit has experienced only one down month, since October 2002. This brings Specialist Credit's YTD, 1-Year, and 3-Year returns above all other process groups, 6.08%, 15.34%, and 13.26% respectively. In risk-adjusted terms, Specialist Credit reports the highest 3-Year Sharpe ratio of 2.88.

Emulating the decline in the equity markets, the MSCI Security Selection IndexSM was down 1.58%. Within Security Selection, looking to the process level, Short Bias contributed positively returning 3.0% while Long Bias funds were the largest contributors to the decline with a 2.15% loss.

Hedge funds investing in various geographical locations all returned negative July performance, sharply contrasting June when they were all up. The worst performer for July was the MSCI Hedge Fund Japan IndexSM, which returned -1.72%, bringing the YTD figure to 12.65%, still far above the YTD figures of other geography focused indices. The negative returns are in line with the fall in Japanese equity markets. The MSCI Japan IndexSM returned -5.93% for the month of July and 4.21% YTD.

Below is a brief description of the MSCI Hedge Fund Process Groups:

The MSCI Directional Trading IndexSM - MSCI defines Directional Trading strategies as those based upon speculating on the direction of market prices of currencies, commodities, equities, and bonds in the futures and cash markets.

The MSCI Relative Value IndexSM - Relative Value strategies focus on spread relationships between pricing components of financial assets or commodities.

The MSCI Security Selection IndexSM - Security Selection managers combine long positions and short sales with the aim of benefiting from their ability in selecting investments while offsetting systematic market risks.

The MSCI Specialist Credit IndexSM - Specialist Credit funds seek to lend to credit-sensitive issuers.

The MSCI Multi-Process Group IndexSM - Multi-Process Group comprises funds that practice a strategy whereby a single investment process does not account for more than 80% of their risk capital.
