

MSCI Delivers Latest Innovation with New Equity Analytics Offerings

New models, analytics and software define new standard for measuring and managing risk

New York – October 13, 2014 – MSCI Inc. (NYSE: MSCI), a leading provider of investment decision support tools worldwide, announced today the launch of a new generation of models as well as new functionality for its widely used portfolio management and reporting applications. These products are used by leading financial professionals globally to help design, implement and report the risk and performance of their investment strategies.

Joining the expansive lineup of MSCI's market-leading Barra equity models, MSCI is launching seven (7) new models in Q4, including an enhanced suite of US models and a range of new Asia specific models. These new models have been enhanced to include Systematic Equity Strategies (SES) in addition to the standard Barra style factors found in every Barra model, marking a new era for advancing the standard for measuring and managing risk.

Systematic Equity Strategies, when represented as factors in risk models, allow investment managers to better understand and monitor the sources of risk and return in equity portfolios while capturing volatility and correlations among stocks consistent with their investment horizon. Institutional investors using models with Systematic Equity Strategies are also better able to measure their exposure to crowding.

Major enhancements to MSCI's software and applications include:

For Barra Portfolio Manager:

- Two major enhancements to Barra Portfolio Manager include Custom Factor Attribution which allows investment managers to customize and /or create new factor structures of risk models to match their own unique investment philosophy while maintaining the Barra risk model excellence; and the addition of High Volume Reporting, a new end-to-end reporting workflow using pre-generated or customized reports.

For Barra Open Optimizer:

- New functionality has been added to this powerful optimizer engine that drives Barra Aegis, BarraOne and Barra Portfolio Manager, but which can also be integrated into any portfolio construction workflow, including: Constraint-aware Roundlotting which ensures the portfolio rules are satisfied while creating round lots and includes threshold constraints; Risk Parity Portfolio Construction (also known as equal risk weighting); and Transaction Cost Control through fixed costs, thresholds and maximums on the number of names. With these latest enhancements, the Barra Open Optimizer moves beyond mean-variance optimization to support a range of advanced mandates and alternative portfolio construction techniques.

“MSCI is dedicated to helping investment professionals globally by delivering innovative, ground breaking research, models and software to help identify risk and potential sources of risk to improve returns,” said Peter Zangari, Managing Director and Head of MSCI Portfolio Management Analytics. “As former investment professionals, we take a practitioner’s perspective. ‘MSCI’ and ‘Barra’ have always been associated with innovation. None of the Information constitutes an offer to sell (or a solicitation of an offer to buy), any security, financial product or other investment vehicle or any trading strategy.

It is not possible to invest directly in an index. Exposure to an asset class or trading strategy or other category represented by an index is only available through third party investable instruments (if any) based on that index. MSCI does not issue, sponsor, endorse, market, offer, review or otherwise express any opinion regarding any fund, ETF, derivative or other security, investment, financial product or trading strategy that is based on, linked to or seeks to provide an investment return related to the performance of any MSCI index (collectively, “Index Linked Investments”). MSCI makes no assurance that any Index Linked Investments will accurately track index performance or provide positive investment returns. MSCI Inc. is not an investment adviser or fiduciary and MSCI makes no representation regarding the advisability of investing in any Index Linked Investments.

Index returns do not represent the results of actual trading of investible assets/securities. MSCI maintains and calculates indexes, but does not manage actual assets. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor may pay to purchase the securities underlying the index or Index Linked Investments. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause the performance of an Index Linked Investment to be different than the MSCI index performance.

The Information may contain back tested data. Back-tested performance is not actual performance, but is hypothetical. There are frequently material differences between back tested performance results and actual results subsequently achieved by any investment strategy.
