MSCI Helps National University of Singapore Business School Students

Agreement provides access to Barra portfolio and risk management products

Hong Kong – November 30, 2010 - MSCI Inc. (NYSE: MSCI), a leading provider of investment decision support tools worldwide, announced today that it has signed an agreement with The Center for Asset Management Research & Investments (CAMRI) at the National University of Singapore (NUS) Business School. The agreement, part of the Barra on Campus program, provides NUS Business School students with access to a range of Barra portfolio and risk management products.

Established over 40 years ago, NUS Business School has consistently been given top rankings in the Asia-Pacific region by independent publications and agencies such as The Financial Times, Economist Intelligence Unit, and QS Top MBA.

Professor Bernard Yeung, Dean and Stephen Riady Distinguished Professor of NUS Business School, said "The NUS Business School is most grateful for MSCI's support. The state-of-the art software and datasets are what we need to raise the bar in our student trainings. They will equip and enable our students and researchers to conduct full-blown investment management research and analysis, as well as portfolio construction, backtesting, and risk management exercises within our CAMRI Investment Management & Trading Lab, just like any leading global asset manager is able to do today."

"We are pleased to be able to support academic institutions such as NUS Business School through our Barra on Campus program," said Deborah Yang, Managing Director and Head of Asia Pacific Sales. "The program is designed to provide students, who may well become tomorrow's investment professionals, with access to the tools used today by thousands of portfolio and risk managers around the world."
