

MSCI Immuno-oncology Index

Cancer is the second leading cause of death worldwide - but new treatments that use the power of the body's own immune system are transforming the treatment landscape and brightening the long-term outlook for many patients with advanced cancer.

Immuno-oncology refers to the development of therapies that harness the power of the body's own immune system to fight cancer. Immunotherapy is a formidable weapon against cancer because of its potential to exploit the body's natural defenses against infection.

Focusing on one of medicine's largest unmet needs, these innovative therapies represent some of the fastest-growing areas of scientific investigation and product development.

In order to provide focused exposure to this important space, we have created the MSCI ACWI Investable Market Immuno-Oncology Index.

Developed in collaboration with Royalty Pharma, the index aims to represent the performance of a set of companies contributing to or benefitting from the advancing science and utilization of Immuno-Oncology therapeutics.

It can be utilized by institutional investors for investment universe identification, internal research, and benchmarking; by product creators as the basis of ETF's and structured products; and asset managers looking to identify potential investment opportunities.

Bringing together our data and insight with Royalty Pharma's industry expertise, our new index can be your key to harnessing disruption in the biopharmaceutical and life sciences industry.
